

Who is TAC-MED?

Medical educators specialized in tactical casualty care for law enforcement, civilian EMS, and the military. Subject matter experts regarding medical care in austere environments, mass casualty incidents, disaster response, and other complex emergency situations.

Who does TAC-MED educate?

First responders of any type:

- Law Enforcement
- Military
- SWAT
- EMS
- Administrative Staff
- Facility Managers
- Human Resources
- Schools
- Security Officers
- Hospital Personnel

What services does TAC-MED provide?

Active Shooter Training Course | Designed for the street medical providers and law enforcement personnel that would first respond to these events, with a concentration on forcing forward urgent medical care to the victims.

Basic Tactical Medicine Course | Designed to provide all interested emergency responders with the tools necessary to operate in a tactical environment.

Self Aid/Basic Tactical Aid Course | For non-medical law enforcement, military, and security operators, this course helps to reduce morbidity and mortality by ensuring treatable injuries receive immediate attention at the front line of operations.

Continuing Medical Education | For EMS personnel and law enforcement. Topics include Excited Delirium, Chemical Assisted Suicide response, Drugs of Abuse awareness, Ballistics and Explosives, Chest and Abdominal Trauma, Incident Command, Scene Safety, Toxicology, Capnography, and Special Needs Patients.

Educational Emergency Readiness Consultation & Training | Safety and emergency planning for schools and other educational facilities. Includes reviewing, updating, or developing safety and emergency plans; Disaster readiness and planning; First aid training for staff members and students; Training local emergency responders in the command and medical aspects of an active shooter response.

Other courses and services available; see www.tac-med.org for more information.

Realistic training for an unsecure world...

Tac-Med is an educational group comprised of operators from emergency medical services, law enforcement, medicine, and the military that have been teaching disaster response and tactical medicine since 2007.

Call 610-551-2400
for all media inquiries.

